PRESS RELEASE
May 14, 2020 @ 2:00 p.m.

In developing reopening plans, businesses will need to consider three main factors – The first factor is protections for employees and customers. These include possible adjustments to workplace hours and shift design as necessary to reduce density in the workplace; enacting social distancing protocols, and restricting non-essential travel for employees.

The second is changes to the physical workspace, including requiring all employees and customers to wear masks if in frequent close contact with others and implementing strict cleaning and sanitation standards.

The last factor for businesses to consider is implementing processes that meet the changing public health obligations, like screening individuals when they enter the workplace, or reporting confirmed positives to customers. While these processes will vary from business to business, almost everyone will have to adapt, in some way or another, to our new normal...

Chairman of the Wyoming County Board of Supervisors, Jerry L. Davis, reports: As of earlier today, Thursday, May 14, the Wyoming County Health Department reports seventy-four (74) lab-confirmed positive cases of COVID-19 among Wyoming County residents. There is no increase from Wednesday, May 13.
